Bicycle for Policemen.

Marshal William A. Cuesney, of the Orange Police Department, has instituted a novel feature in the working of the police system of this city, which bids fair to prove a success and be worthy of emulation.For the past week the marshal has had one given in bicycle riding to all the patrolmen and sergeants of the force.
Safety bicycles of the latest patent are used and in a very rapidly becoming popular. The new bicycles are in the near future the police station equipments are to be changed by the addition of several safety bicycles and one or more tandem. The patrolmen, whose territory
includes a widely separated posts,
as to be benefited on these silent steeds
and will be able to approach a patrolman without any warning.In cases of outbreaks or disturbances
a route portions of the city the tandem will be brought into requisition and two athletic policemen will wheel themselves to the desired point. The wheels will be painted a bright red or other highly distinctive color, and a heavy chain will be attached for interference with one by any unauthorized person.Marshal McClesney is enthusiastic over his new departure in police work,
and declares that the "sand papered"
roads of the Oranges can be turned to as good account for bicycling as for record breaking by bicyclists. The officers are to wear the regulation police uniform, with an option of knee breeches or trousers full length.—Cor. New York Times.

Hop Growing in the West.

The west is rapidly taking hold of hop culture, and fields are being planted in many states, and particularly on the Pacific slope in the northwest. California and Wisconsin are also prominent,
eighteen states in all being more or less engaged in the business. New York still leads them all, but Washington is climbing higher than the ranks each year. The clear skies, pure air and rich slopes of the foothills of the Sierras are particularly adapted to hop raising, and the time is coming soon when the Pacific slope will be the leading producer.
There are new uses discovered constantly for hops, and the demand for them is increasing.Experiments made during the past year in Kansas and Iowa prove that with irrigation hops can be made very profitable in the prairie states. The absence of fogs and the breezy atmosphere ripen them perfectly, and there is nothing to hinder a valuable industry
being added to the west's growing features. The perennial nature of the hop plant and the pleasant manner of gathering the product make the year's work easy and congenial. The west, if it takes up hop culture, will find that it has secured a business combining profit and pleasure in a pleasing ratio.—Chicago Herald.

The Mirth-Provoking Comedy of the Day.
Laughter and merriment will reign supreme at the Opera House on the evening of November 2d, the occasion being the reappearance of Fowler and Warrington's comedians, in that very funny comedy, "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." This play, which was received with great favor by a large audience on the occasion of its last visit, has recently undergone a complete revision. New "business" has been introduced and the latest popular and most catchy music from the new operas has been secured and will be heard for the first time here. As for the play itself, its vitality, action, humor and gracefulness, its verbal rna and gymnastic hilarity, its vim and "go," that delight all who witness it has lost none of its charm and such laughter as it evokes wherever it is produced is seldom heard within the walls of any theater.

THE STEWART AND NEWLANDS CLUB.

A Lively Meeting Last Night.
There was a large and enthusiastic gathering at the Stewart and Newlands Club last evening to hear speeches by Mr. Chap. J. Kuppier, Judge Marshall and Judge Corlier. The speaking was of a versatile character and took the audience by the ear.
Mr. Kuppier was the first speaker. His subject was "The Record and Services of Senator Stewart in the Senate Since His Election in 1887." His remarks were entertaining and interesting. He related the great work of Senator Stewart in the Senate and elsewhere for the free coinage of silver. He also gave an account of the various bills pending before Congress and which have passed the Senate that are of interest to the people of Nevada and which will greatly benefit the State when enacted into laws.
Senator Stewart's influence in Congress and the various departments in Washington, he said, was large, and by his persistence and diplomacy he gained a great number of things which related to the silver cause of the State. Senator Stewart's knowledge and legislative experience make him exceedingly valuable to the people he represents. His attention to every matter in which his constituents are interested is commendable. He is always at his post, never grows tired and in his glory when he has a fight ahead, especially a fight in which his constituents are concerned. He is considered one of the leading Senators, and his many speeches have made for him a national reputation.
His active and energetic labor for silver has made him the leader of free coinage. He is considered the great upholder of the white metal throughout the union. If the people of Nevada stand by him in his contest for the chief interest of the State by sending him back to the Senate unanimously he will be still more effective in his great work for silver.
Mr. Kuppier concluded by saying that he believed the people of Nevada fully appreciate the valuable services rendered by Senator Stewart to the State, and that they cannot better exhibit their appreciation of his services, satisfaction with his course and confidence in his ability to represent them and promote their interests than by a unanimous re-election to the Senate of the United States. He is worthy of the honor. He is deeply grateful to the people for having honored him so highly. He promises them that if they stand by him in this instance he will win all the fights and measures in which the State is interested, chief of all, the free coinage of silver. His duties will be discharged faithfully, conscientiously and fearlessly and with favor to none and with an ability which will reflect credit and honor upon the State and people that elected him.
JUDGE MARSHALL.
The remarks of Judge Marshall were very appropriate, and he aroused the enthusiasm of his hearers. He dwelt upon the propriety of the United States submitting its financial policy to the concurrence of European bondholders, and predicted that the present monetary conference would prove fruitless of result. The sooner this country pursues an independent course financially, the better off the people will be. He was opposed to allowing foreigners to decide whether or not we shall use silver as money, and he contended that the President was not sincere in his professions in favor of bi-metalism. He deemed that a vote for Weaver was a vote for either Cleveland or Harrison. He contended that it was a vote for bread and butter, and a vote for those two necessities of life was not throwing away your vote.
He said that if silver is not soon remonetized the people will rise in their might and restore it by force. He said he had been a Republican since the party was organized but his duty to himself and his fellow citizens compelled him to leave the party. He appealed to his hearers to support Senator Stewart and the Silver and People's ticket and his remarks were enthusiastically applauded.
JUDGE CORLIEB.
Judge Corlier's speech was pithy. He began by alluding to the Democratic platform of 1884, which declared for free coinage, and Cleveland's action in repudiating that platform. In 1888 the people thought that the Republican party would grant free coinage to the country, but when he saw the action of President Harrison with reference to that important problem, he was compelled to securing favorable legislation on the silver question, from this Administration. It brought to his mind vividly the sayings of Horace Greeley, and Henry Ward Beecher and others, and he said he told from the third party headed by that grand old hero, General Weaver. He is now a Weaverite, and never again will he bear allegiance to the Republican party.
He remarked with much feeling that if Senator Stewart is defeated for re-election to the Senate on the 6th of November, the people of the State might as well pack up and leave. His defeat would be a plain assertion that the people are not very anxious to have silver restored as Senator Stewart said they were.
The Judge then dwelt upon county matters and urged all voters to support the straight Silver ticket. This expression met with the approval of all present.
The meeting was a great success. It is intended to have speech making at the club as often as possible.
The meeting was a regular love feast, and several, including B. F. Robo and Mr. Sessions, declared themselves for Stewart and the Silver ticket. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested and everybody seemed determined to do all in his power to secure the success of the ticket.
Masquerade Ball.
The Knights of Honor will give their regular Annual Masquerade Ball on Thanksgiving night, November 24th, at the Pavilion. No pains will be spared to make it one of the great social events of the season. Several prizes will be awarded the best disguised characters. A general invitation is extended to the public. Oct 27th.

A WONDERFUL CAVERN.

Petrified Bodies and Stone Images Found in a Cave in Nevada County.
The Nevada city (Cal.) Herald of last Wednesday has the following relative to a wonderful cave near Bridgeport, which has been partially explored by Professor Galy of San Francisco and T. P. McCarty of Nevada county:
"The mouth of the cavern is in the face of a high cliff of beading rocks, and from no point is it visible from the surrounding country. The aperture is about 6 by 8 feet, and the sides, roof and bottom are covered with a mass of bluish-grey crystals, interspersed with the pale yellow stalagmites and stalactites, among which a few feathery ferns support themselves.
"As you enter this cavern you are struck with a sense of the most intense silence. You become suddenly mute—your voice is gone. You cannot hear your own footsteps, nor can you by any means produce the least sound. A heavy, forbidding sensation, as though some great danger was at hand, comes suddenly upon you, and an effort of will power is required to keep yourself from rushing out and leaping from the face of the cliff to the jagged rocks below.
"For fifty feet the cavern stretches away as a sort of low, square tunnel, and you pick your way carefully among the stalagmites, where nothing is broken. There is no moisture, and your feet disturb and raise small clouds of the fine impalpable dust of centuries. There is a faint musty flavor in the air, which has a peculiarly depressing effect, and you feel that you are going down into the very bowels of the earth.
"Suddenly the low tunnel becomes wide and high, and you find yourself in a gorgeous room, the walls of which are covered with crystals of all the colors of the rainbow. Indeed each crystal, and there are millions upon millions of them, is a prism. The feeble light of your candle is reflected over and over again until it has been increased a thousand fold, and the spacious room is as brilliantly lighted as if the sun were shining into it. But this beautiful conglomeration of prismatic color and crystal embellishment is not the most striking feature.
"Upon the floor of the cavern is fifty-six images, the petrified forms of men and women who were probably placed there many thousand years ago. They lie in rows, with their feet to the south, their hands folded above their heads, the right foot drawn up and their eyes open. These bodies are nude and of a pale pink throughout. With a hammer which he had brought with him Prof. Galy broke off several arms and legs, and discovered that they were all hollow.
"There were no inscriptions, no relics in stone or metal by which we could determine the age to which these once animated forms belonged. Nature had, perhaps, destroyed all but the bodies, and made them imperishable.
"Leading from this room is a small gallery which conducts you to another room, the contents of which are even more wonderful. Here, too, are petrified bodies—six of them. They are not lying prone, but stand, facing the south. They are draped with long, clinging garments, which have also been turned to stone, the edges of which are richly embroidered with a frost-like fringe of crystals. Their attitudes are that of extreme humiliation, and their stony eyes are staring intently at the ground. Petrified plants, fruits, flowers and vines were in abundance, all reflecting the prismatic colors in the most wonderful manner."
SENATOR STEWART.
What General Warner the Great Advocate of Free Coinage Says of Him.
The following from General A. J. Warner, the great advocate of free coinage to whom Cleveland addressed his anti-silver letter after his election to the Presidency in 1884, appears in the Silver State of last Friday:
AMERICAN Bimetallist League, SUN BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct., 22, 1892.
G. S. Nixon, Esq., Chairman Silver League, Winnemucca, Nev.—DEAR SIR: While I have no interest whatever in the politics of Nevada, I cannot but express surprise that there should be opposition to the return of Senator Stewart to the United States Senate. Senator Stewart has been the hero of the silver cause in the Senate, and for Nevada to strike him down would be the severest blow that could be struck at the cause of bi-metalism.
Very truly yours,
A. J. WARNER.
No wonder General Warner is surprised that there should be opposition in Nevada to Senator Stewart's reelection. He has been, as General Warner says, the hero of the silver cause in the Senate and his defeat would be a crushing if not a fatal blow to bi-metalism. Wall street is making a determined effort through traitors to strike him down in the home of his friends, and is using money freely to accomplish its purpose. The people are with him, however, and neither goldbug money, nor goldbug duplicity can get them to disavow their allegiance to him. Not only every friend of silver, but every citizen of Nevada who desires to see the State prosperous, and who admires courage, energy and perseverance will vote on the 6th of November for members of the Legislature, who are pledged to return Wm. M. Stewart to the United States Senate.
Newlands To-morrow Night.
To-morrow, Monday night, Hon. Francis G. Newlands, the Silver party candidate for Congress, will address the citizens of Reno on the issues of the campaign and matters pertaining to the interests of the State. His discussions issues and principles and does not descend to personalities and mere guardmen in his speeches.
Notice.
Having returned to Reno and located my barber shop at Chase & Boyen's corner, I will be pleased to have my friends and the public generally give me a call.

C. COLEMAN.

MONSTER RALLY AT GOLD HILL.
The Hall Too Small For the Audience.
Messrs. Wren, Stewart and Newlands spoke in Gold Hill last night at Miners' Union Hall. The building was too small to hold half of those anxious to listen to the gentlemen, and many were disappointed. Mr. C. E. Mack, candidate for University Regent on the Silver ticket, acted as Master of ceremonies. The Comstock Green Club, ladies and gentlemen, enlivened the occasion with songs, and the meeting was a successful one from opening to close. Virginia was represented by a large attendance of voters, who never tire of listening to the logical arguments of the Silver party orators.
Mr. Thomas Wren was the first speaker, and during his lengthy oration was listened to with wreat attention throughout. Senator Stewart followed Mr. Wren, and made some telling hits in reviewing Bartine's record in Congress. As both gentlemen will address the people of Virginia at the Opera House this evening, all who desire will have an opportunity of hearing their able arguments on the political issues of the day.
At the close of Senator Stewart's remarks last night Hon. F. G. Newlands made a terse and pithy speech, in which he appealed to the people to stand by the cause and loosen the chains that are destroying the State's prosperity—crushing out its very life and existence.
The meeting was closed by the singing of the Glee Club, but the enthusiasm inaugurated on the occasion continued until long after midnight. The gathering was a spontaneous outpouring of thinking people, who have sacrificed party for the cause of right and justice to Nevada's suffering population.
Deserves Attention.
If you have money to invest in Reno real estate, either in larger or smaller amounts, the Reno Real Estate and Investment Company offers most particular inducements to you. By investing in its shares of stock you participate in its investments which are governed by its able and experienced Board of Trustees, consisting of Mr. C. T. Bender, Mr. Sol Levy, Mr. C. C. Powning, Mr. Geo. F. Turrittin and Mr. A. G. Fletcher. The principle object of the company is to purchase and improve centrally located business property in the city of Reno. Everyone is of one mind as to the desirability of such investments.
The company is incorporated with a capital of $100,000, divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of five dollars each, and from its already large list of share holders there is every reason to believe that it is destined to become one of the most flourishing companies in the State. Of its 20,000 shares there have been 12,000 sold since August 1st.
Its shares are sold upon the monthly installment plan of ten cents per share, installments to range over a period of fifty months. In this way persons of moderate means are enabled to combine and participate in investments that usually only fall to the lot of the fortunate capitalist. Mr. F. M. Lee, the Secretary of the company, will be pleased to furnish any desired information.
